How to use advanced search

Orders

1. Go to the "Track and Trace" blue search bar at the top of the page.
2. Click "Advanced Search."
3. Your search options will change based on what you choose. You'll be presented with multiple options to search for an order, like:
 - Number (Account or orders)
 - Status -- choose the status you would like to search for.
 - Location -- lets you choose a specific location you would like to search for the order in.
 - Order Amount -- lets you choose to put in a 'Single Amount' or select 'Range' of an amount you'd like to search for.
 - Date -- allows you to search by the date the order was created, the expected delivery date, or the actual delivery date, or you can click the calendar and select the date you are specifically searching for.

NOTE: You can search for up to 90 days' worth of orders, deposits, or both in 30-day increments. When searching for a preferred ID (an ID you have agreed upon with the support team to use for searching purposes), it must be placed in the 'Location Name' field. For example, if your location name is '1234,' you would still search in "Location Name."

Deposits

When searching for deposits, many of the options are the same as searching for orders, except under "Number," you'll have the option to enter a Bag Number. The order amount is the "Total Amount" under "Deposits," and you have the option to select the type of variance you have.

Both

This option will return results for both orders and deposits in the database. Selecting "Both" narrows your search down to "Number," "Location (Financial Institution), "Location (name, number, and address)" and "Date." Please note that the "Edit Location" option will only be available to users with Admin access.
